Forever and ever amen

In this syllabus we have highlighted beautiful and fruitful exchanges that can happen when you foster closeness in platonic intimacy. We want to be direct and say that deep friendship is not always rainbows and butterflies. Quite the opposite in fact. Because friendship has no set rules like those of mainstream coupledness; mistakes will happen and they will happen often. We must commit to being in the culture of learning publicly together. Friendship is full of nuance with no roadmap and few studies of how it actually works. We are all trailblazers when it comes to building friendships. It's hard, you won't keep all the friends you make, but isn't it fun to know that you have so many ways to connect deeply and countless folks whom you have yet to meet and share love with?
